

Presented by North East Alabama Genealogical Society
&
Ann Blomquist

8:30 - 9:00	Registration
9:00 - 9:15	Welcome
9:15 - 10:15	Virginia Parishes
10:30 - 11:30	Maps
11:30 - 1:00	Lunch
1:00 - 2:00	Census Surprises
2:15 - ??	Questions and Answers

Virginia Colonial Parish Records

Prior to the Revolutionary War, certain non-religious county records were kept by the church parishes. Learn which records still exist, what they include, and where to find them.

Maps in Genealogy Research

Learn about different kinds of printed maps available to researchers in books, foldable maps, and online.

Census Surprises

As researchers, we all use the federal census records, but there are many details behind the scenes that you should know. When was Census Day? How many copies of the census did the federal marshal make? When was the first census?

Biography

Ann Blomquist is a retired high school mathematics teacher with more than 40 years of genealogy experience. She is the author of 13 genealogy books including family histories, court records, church vestry records, and store account books. She is the administrator of the East Tennessee Historical Society's First Families of Tennessee project, the editor of the Jefferson County Genealogical Society's Journal, teaches genealogy classes, and presents at genealogy conferences.